

USC LIBRARY CATALOG and Endnote

JG 03/07

Records from the USC Library Catalog can be imported into Endnote by using one of two methods. The first method is to search the catalog by using the “U of South Carolina” connection file from your Endnote program and search the Library’s holdings. Before this will work you will need to update the connection file in your Endnote program. Instructions for doing this can be found on the Library’s Endnote support webpage. The second method is to search the Library’s catalog directly and import those records into your Endnote library; you should follow the directions below:

1. Mark the desired records by checking the beside its item record in the library catalog and click the “Save Marked Records” for each page that contains records of items you want to import into Endnote. After all records have been marked and saved, click on the “View Saved” button.
