The Buddha: the story of Siddhartha

A film by David Grubin. Two and a half millennia ago, a new religion was born in India, generated from the ideas of the Buddha, a mysterious Indian sage who gained enlightenment while he sat under a large, shapely fig tree. The Buddha never claimed to be God or his emissary on earth, only that he was a human being who had found a kind of serenity that others could find, too. This documentary tells the story of his life, a journey especially relevant in our own times.

Get personal research assistance with "Book A Librarian"

USC students, faculty and staff who want help with their research can make an appointment for a free consultation service that provides a person-to-person session with a librarian. The sessions can help identify ways to access and navigate electronic resources; develop search strategies; discover and locate primary source materials; search the web for relevant and reliable information; and locate materials for a literature review.

Carry the library in your pocket

University Libraries has introduced a mobile version of its website. The site includes mobile-friendly applications for some of the library's most used resources, such as the library catalog, Ask a Librarian, the computer availability page and some library databases. The site is optimized for viewing on a wide range of mobile devices.

To experience the site's full potential, use your smartphone or tablet to view our site at http://m.library.sc.edu

Planning for technology-based class projects?

To paraphrase Tom Cruise in the movie Jerry Maguire— "Help us help you." Or more precisely, help us help your students succeed. If you plan to assign technology-based class projects, then you need to read this!

Would you like to see previous issues of the "From Your Libraries ..." newsletter? Would you like to read a newsletter targeted for another department? All copies of the newsletters are available on the University Libraries Publications page. A number of other publications produced by the Libraries also are available at this link.
