April 2012

Hello from Thomas Cooper Library!

Have a relaxing yet productive summer, and remember that I am available all summer to help in any way I can. I look forward to working with you in the fall.

Get personal research assistance with "Book A Librarian"

USC students, faculty and staff who want help with their research can make an appointment for a free consultation service that provides a person-to-person session with a librarian. The sessions can help identify ways to access and navigate electronic resources; develop search strategies; discover and locate primary source materials; search the web for relevant and reliable information; and locate materials for a literature review.

if you have an established account or would like to create one. If not, send your requests to your department's faculty representative or to your liaison.

Carry the library in your pocket

University Libraries has introduced a mobile version of its website. The site includes mobile-friendly applications for some of the library's most used resources, such as the library catalog, Ask a Librarian, the computer availability page and some library databases. The site is optimized for viewing on a wide range of mobile devices.

Planning for technology-based class projects?

To paraphrase Tom Cruise in the movie Jerry Maguire— "Help us help you." Or more precisely, help us help your students succeed. If you plan to assign technology-based class projects, then you need to read this!

Would you like to see previous issues of the "From Your Libraries ..." newsletter? Would you like to read a newsletter targeted for another department? All copies of the newsletters are available on the University Libraries Publications page. A number of other publications produced by the Libraries also are available at this link.
