April 2012

Hello from Thomas Cooper Library!

I hope that the end of your spring semester is going well. The Thomas Cooper Library is bustling with activity and you will see some highlights in this issue of From Your Libraries.

Please feel free to contact me with questions, concerns, or suggestions.

Sincerely, Karen W. Brown

Performance Research: A Journal of the Performing Arts

A specialist journal that promotes a dynamic interchange between scholarship and practice in an expanding field of performance. Interdisciplinary in vision and international in scope, its emphasis is on research in contemporary performance arts within changing cultures. Click here to access.

Get personal research assistance with "Book A Librarian"

USC students, faculty and staff who want help with their research can make an appointment for a free consultation service that provides a person-to-person session with a librarian. The sessions can help identify ways to access and navigate electronic resources; develop search strategies; discover and locate primary source materials; search the web for relevant and reliable

Carry the library in your pocket

University Libraries has introduced a mobile version of its website. The site includes mobile-friendly applications for some of the library's most used resources, such as the library catalog, Ask a Librarian, the computer availability page and some library databases. The site is optimized for viewing on a wide range of mobile devices.

To experience the site's full potential, use your smartphone or tablet to view our site at http://m.library.sc.edu

Planning for technology-based class projects?

To paraphrase Tom Cruise in the movie Jerry Maguire — "Help us help you." Or more precisely, help us help your students succeed. If you plan to assign technology-based class projects, then you need to read this!

Would you like to see previous issues of the "From Your Libraries ..." newsletter? Would you like to read a newsletter targeted for another department? All copies of the newsletters are available on the University Libraries Publications page. A number of other publications produced by the Libraries also are available at this link.
