The spring semester is well underway, and it's time to think about books, DVDs or other one-time purchases you would like to see added to the library's collection. Please submit suggestions by March 13 through e-request or by emailing me directly.

Also, it's not too late to schedule a research instruction session or request a customized resource guide for your course. Let me know how I can help!

South Carolina Digital Library has a new look and feel!

Please visit the South Carolina Digital Library at <http://www.scmemory.org> and try out its new search results options. SCDL has a new look and feel that should make viewing the more than 300 collections from over 50 institutions across the state much easier.

Early American Newspapers, Series I 1690-1876

A brand-new acquisition this spring, Early American Newspapers (Series I) offers fully searchable, cover-to-cover reproductions from more than 700 historical American newspapers from 23 states and the District of Columbia. Click here to access

eRequest

Use 'eRequest' for book requests. Remember to continue submitting requests for books you would like the library to add to the collection.

if you have an established account or would like to create one. If not, send your requests to your department's faculty representative or to your liaison.

Streaming Video

Check out the American History in Video and World History in Video databases for streaming films. These films and clips can be linked or embedded into any Blackboard class allowing your students to watch them whenever and as many times as they would like. All of these films can also be shown in class.

Tours of Thomas Cooper Library

Don't have time for a class tour but you know your class needs to know how to navigate the library? We have options for you. Have the students watch our Thomas Cooper Library Tour on "YouTube."

Or give them our self-guided tour. It will introduce them to the Thomas Cooper Library building as well as some of the services offered by the library.

The South Caroliniana Library reopens March 2

The South Caroliniana Library collections are now housed in offsite locations until renovations can be made to safely store the library's one-of-a-kind treasures in the 175-year-old structure.

New Procedures:

Researchers must contact reference staff in advance of their visits via email at sciref@mailbox.sc.edu or by phone at 803-777-3132 to allow for delivery of collection items to the library. There are restrictions on the amount of material that can be requested at one time since it must be retrieved from remote locations.

New Hours:

The reading room will be open to patrons from 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday-Friday.

Digital Collections marks its tenth anniversary

Ten years ago, USC Libraries made available their first digital collection: the Otto F. Ege Manuscripts. Today the Libraries have more than 155 digital collections, with more than half a million images available online. Read more about the development of our Digital Collections.

Libraries Undergraduate Research Award

"Did you have undergraduates turn in great work in the fall making use of the library? Expecting solid projects this term?"

Encourage your students to submit their work for the University Libraries Award for Undergraduate Research by sharing this video with them."

Cash prizes available.
