South Carolina Political Collections (SCPC) offers an annual William Jennings Bryan Dorn Undergraduate Prize of $350 for the best paper by an undergraduate student, enrolled at any college or university, based on research in SCPC holdings. Our holdings document post-World War II society and government and consist of the papers of leaders in government, political parties, and other individuals and organizations that influence government, chiefly at the national and state levels. See our website for more information.

William Jennings Bryan Dorn represented South Carolina’s 3rd District in the U.S. Congress for thirteen terms between 1948 and 1974. An eloquent advocate of South Carolina’s interests, Dorn was particularly effective in the areas of agriculture, industrialization, and highway construction. He was a noted champion of both the Southern textile industry and the interests of America’s veterans. In 1974, Bryan Dorn retired from Congress and donated his congressional papers to the Library. Dating from 1912 to the present, more than 150 feet of papers, photographs, newspaper clippings, and audiovisual records document Dorn’s life and service to South Carolina and the nation as soldier, legislator, and as chair of the state Democratic Party (1980-1984).

Each application is evaluated upon the originality of its thesis, the research strategy adopted by the author, the import of the research in SCPC in proving the paper’s thesis, and the quality of the writing itself. The prize is awarded only if we receive a paper judged worthy of the award.

No standard form is needed for application. To be considered, papers must be submitted within twelve months of the date on which the paper was submitted for grading. Applications must be submitted by May 31. The Dorn Prize recipient is announced annually in July.

Via e-mail, applicants must submit:

- Copy of the paper
- Cover letter bearing applicant’s full name, address, telephone number and e-mail address, school affiliation, and a statement as to when and for what purpose the paper was written
- An abstract and statement regarding the importance of primary manuscript materials, and particularly the holdings of SCPC, to the research project (This should total no more than 400 words)
- Letter of reference from the professor for whom the paper was prepared, including the grade given to the paper

Please submit papers and supporting materials to: scpc@mailbox.sc.edu

NOTE: These materials become the property of SCPC. Application constitutes the author’s permission for the addition of the paper to the SCPC holdings and its potential quotation in University publications.

The Dorn Prize is funded through gifts by friends honoring former Congressman Dorn and exists to encourage the study of contemporary society and government and research in primary source materials by undergraduate scholars.
